Program Synopsis

The Advanced Government Finance Institute is a one week program held annually at the University of Wisconsin at Madison and sponsored by the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada. The Institute brings together some 50 government finance officials from across the United States and the world. It offers experienced finance officers a rare opportunity to step back from day-to-day operational demands and consider the broader perspective of their organizations. Lectures, seminars, small group sessions and informal networking provide the context for this intensive on-campus program.

Recent Topics and Future Trends Discussed

- Economic, demographic and financial horizons
- Urban policy and governmental restructuring
- Technology and its impact on financial management
- Future directions in accounting, budgeting and finance
- Leadership strategies

Faculty and Presenters

- University of Wisconsin faculty
- Government officials
- Consultants
- GFOA staff

Tuition Fee/Scholarship

The Minnesota GFOA will pay the tuition fee for the successful candidate that will cover the enrollment, lodging, and meals at the Institute facilities, course materials, and sponsored activities from the evening of Sunday to noon Friday. The scholarship does not include such items as mileage, airfare, or time off from your organization to attend.
